

Jack Schwartz is an Assistant Attorney General and currently Director of Health Policy Development in the Maryland Attorney General's Office. Formerly Chief Counsel for Opinions and Advice, he has served as counsel to the Open Meetings Compliance Board since it was formed and has written and lectured extensively on open meetings and public information issues. Schwartz is a graduate of Yale Law School and the University of Maryland Baltimore County and is an adjunct professor at the University of Maryland School of Law. Prior to joining the Attorney General's Office in 1982, he held a senior staff position at the Federal Trade Commission in Washington.